SELDEN GRAVES was born Sep-tember 9th, 1782, at Hillsdale in the County of Columbia and State of New York; and died at his residence in Eden township in this county on the 7th day of January 1869. He received a common school education and studied wedicine at the pisce of his nativity with Dr. Samuel Thane. He left the town of Hillsdale in 1812, and located in Richfield, Otsego Co. New York; where in September, 1814, June, 1818, he emigrated to New Haven, Huron county, Ohio, where he resided and practiced his profession until March, 1822, when he removed to Eden township in this county, and purchased some real estate at the place where he afterwards resided during his life-time. At this period he was comparatively poor, the practice of medicine at once, and and is dragged out from month to the improvement of his real estate and agricultural pursuits.
